Elba officially 'meets and greets' new public library director

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Jennifer Farris Amlong began work mid-November as the new library director for the Elba Public Library, and the community officially welcomed her last Thursday, Dec. 20, during a

"Meet and Greet" event held at the library.

A 1985 graduate of Elba High School, she said she is a "hometown girl coming back!"

Amlong previously worked for almost 20 years at the Tupper Lightfoot

Memorial Library in Brundage, Ala. She began there part-time and worked with children and young adult programming before more recently taking on the role of assistant director for the past three years.

"I am very excited about coming to home to Elba and implementing some of the same programs that I have done in Brundage and even try some new things," said Amlong. "I

Elba School Board votes to make hires for special education

by Ferrin Cox, Publisher

The Elba School Board made some personnel decisions at its regular December meeting held Tuesday evening, Dec. 18th.

Following the recommendations of Superintendent Chris Moseley the board accepted the resignation of second grade teacher Rene Patterson. Moseley explained she was resigning for family reasons.

Moseley had high praise for Patterson's work and it was echoed by a couple of board members.

Moseley recommended the hiring of two instructional aides at the elementary school. Linda Tillis has been working as a substitute teacher in the school and was approved for a full time position.

Darlene Burrow has moved to the area from Texas and has teaching experience as the preschool level. She will also be working as an instructional aide.

Also Vivian Willis was hired as a Special Ed teacher. Board members were told she has 14 years experience in schools and comes to Elba from the Coffee County System where she was working as an aide. She has recently completed her education degree.

The three new hires will be on board when teachers return to work on January 3rd.

Board members were updated on an upcoming review of the school system by AdvancedED. Board members will also be interviewed during the visit by the inspection team.

The superintendent updated the board on successes of students in various areas. Richmon Singletary set a state record and recently received a Class 1A 'Player of the Year' award, while a number of Elba band students earned Honor Band status.

The financial statement showed the school system managing to keep a reasonable reserve in operating accounts. Several categories did indicate expenses higher than income, but it was explained these were federally funded items and are only paid after the money has been expended and end-of-the-month requests are filed.

The lunchroom financial balance showed a drop from the previous month, which can be explained by timing on bulk purchases and billing by suppliers.

The Elba Public Library is now home to this electronic rocking horse, and Elba Mayor Mickey Murdock got a ride last Thursday, Dec. 20, during the "Meet and Greet" event for new library director Jennifer Amlong. It's only 50 center per ride, and the library is looking for help in naming the rocking horse.

Walden named Elba Firefighter of the Year by his peers

The Elba Volunteer Fire Department held its annual Christmas Party earlier this month, and several awards and recognitions were made during the event.

A special award presented each year is the "Firefighter of the Year" Award. This year's recipient was Caleb Walden. Fire Chief Drew Parker said Walden was deserving of the award because of all his hard work and dedication to the department throughout the year.

ELFIE DRAWS FOR CHAMBER CASH! The winner of the annual $300 cash give-away from the Elba Chamber of Commerce was announced Friday, Dec. 21, as Elfie of Elba drew the winning name from a Christmas box (as shown above). The winner was Bobbie Colvin of Opp, Ala. For a couple of weeks leading up to the drawing, boxes with entry forms were on display at many Elba chamber member businesses for their customers to enter to win the $300 as a thanks for shopping in Elba. Colvin reportedly was very excited to learn she had won the $300 cash prize!

News Brief:

The Elba Parks and Recreation recently received news that it had been awarded a LWCF (Land and Water Conservation Fund) Grant.

This grant will allow the Elba Parks and Recreation to make improvements at Hawkins-Williams Park in Elba.

It is a matching grant with a total approximate value of $320,000, according to Elba Parks and Recreation director Greg Hanchey.

Coffee County Sheriff's Deputies involved in vehicle chase

Enterprise man arrested on multiple outstanding warrants

A vehicle chase Wednesday, Dec. 19, in Coffee County led to an Enterprise man being arrested on multiple outstanding warrants.

According to information released by the Coffee County Sheriff's Department, law enforcement attempted to make a traffic stop on County Road 114, in the northeastern part of the county, around 6:30 p.m. on the night of Dec. 19th; however, the driver of the vehicle, a white Ford Mustang, refused to stop resulting in a chase.

"The vehicle proceeded on to Highway 167 towards Enterprise," Coffee County Chief Deputy R.W. Whitworth said. "Spike stripes were deployed, and the Mustang was driven through the stripes which resulted in deflating the tires."

He said the driver lost control of the vehicle on Salem Road in Enterprise, and it hit a fuel truck out of Ft. Rucker and side-swiped another vehicle before coming to a stop. The driver fled the scene.

No injuries were reported from this incident.

Whitworth said the driver of the vehicle, Ron Hill of Enterprise, was later arrested on four outstanding warrants. He said the incident was investigated by the Coffee County Sheriff's Department. Also, he noted the Enterprise Police Department and Alabama Law Enforcement Agency assisted in the traffic stop.

"Try not to become a man of success, but rather try to become a man of value." - Albert Einstein

Well Christmas is over for another year and hopefully all our readers survived and have added a double handful of good items to their ever growing memory bank. Now our immediate family has delayed our annual gathering until Saturday, the 29th. Now that happens to also be the date of a certain important football game . . . well important to a whole bunch of Alabama supporters. Ever the detail planner, our daughter Michele announced last week that this family Christmas seasonal event needs to get going on time and finish early – thus allowing a couple of alpha males to get to their personal recliners and TVs before the 7:00 p.m. game start. The reason for this is that throughout the game they each 'discuss' the plays and other coaching decisions with the head coach, sharp shoot the game officials (in spite of what the replay cameras show) and brow-beat the players of the opposing team for cheap blocks. Needless to say, all this needs to be done out of earshot of more gentle ears. Wish us luck!

Government shutdown has hit the U. S. . . again. Estimates are that as many as 800,000 government workers are without pay. Some will (or maybe are required) to keep working and hope their groceries will not run out before another payday – a payday that has no set time to appear. We can accept that there are differing opinions between the president and the Legislature as there always has been. However, we bristle when one side or the other gets in front of the TV cameras and vows to get their way – or else "I will shut down the government." Labor relations laws forbid a private company from doing something like that, but clearly it doesn't apply to the feds. Several years ago there was talk that such a shutdown would delay the millions of social security checks but that didn't happen. It would probably have provoked a bunch of the nations senior citizens to demonstrate that much of 'The Greatest Generation' isn't dead yet! We suspect the Washington crowd knew this and decreed that they didn't mean the SS checks when they ordered a shutdown.

NOTE! Last week we had just finished typing the tidbit about careful driving around the bypass construction work when the police monitor sounded off about another wreck at a bypass intersection! So we repeat the words of caution. Be careful. It is not just us regular Joes that can mess up. A couple of weeks ago we saw a deputy sheriff turn into the wrong lane at the intersection of Claxton and the bypass. Each driver should take that as an omen that none of us are immune to making a mistake and be even more careful.

~ U.S. COULD BE FACING FINANCIAL RUIN ~

Guest Editorial by Daniel Sutter, Troy University

Is the Federal government spending us into financial ruin? The current numbers and budget projections suggest so. Yet I think that the scary numbers reflect an unresolved conflict over the role of government more than a threat of bankruptcy.

The national debt of the United States, the accumulated borrowing since the Republic's founding, stands at $21.85 trillion. The deficit, or amount borrowed to cover spending in excess of tax revenues, for fiscal year 2018 was $780 billion.

A sense of magnitude is difficult to maintain once we get into the "illions" – meaning millions, billions, and trillions. A good way to size up Federal red ink is as a percentage of U.S. GDP, the value of all the goods and services produced in a year, which is currently $20.1 trillion. So 2018's deficit and the national debt are 3.9 and 109 percent of GDP respectively.

A second debt figure, the debt held by the public, confuses the matter. What is the difference? Some Federal government agencies hold debt, including Social Security and the military and civilian pension plans. As this debt is sometime described as "owed to ourselves," some experts focus on debt held by the public, which is currently $16 trillion (78 percent of GDP).

Which measure matters more? Debt held by the public is the amount the U.S. Treasury borrows in global credit markets. Interest rates are prices adjusting to bring demands for borrowing – by businesses and households in addition to government – into line with the supply of funds from savers and investors. Publicly-held debt potentially crowds out productive investment.

The intra-government debt is also real. The $800 billion the Treasury has borrowed from the Department of Defense's pension program is supposed to pay retirement benefits, but was used for other Federal spending. If not repaid, military pensions would need to be paid out of current taxes.

Does the national debt spell inevitable bankruptcy? Warren Buffett has observed that the debt is not necessarily a problem because it was higher relative to GDP at the end of World War II. Mr. Buffett's observation highlights the importance of budget projections. We borrowed to fight World War II, and investors expected spending to decline precipitously after the war. It did, and debt fell below 40 percent of GDP during the 1950s.

By contrast, spending is expected to increase significantly in the future. The most recent Congressional Budget Office (CBO) 30-year forecast projects Federal spending to increase from 20.6 to 27.9 percent of GDP. An aging population using more medical care will increase spending on Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid. The CBO expects debt held by the public to reach 152 percent of GDP by 2048. This will be uncharted territory for the U.S. and could trigger a debt cycle through rising interest rates.

Will debt at 150 percent of GDP mean bankruptcy? Perhaps. Greece has teetered on the verge of bankruptcy with debt at 180 percent of GDP. But Japan remains sound despite debt at 220 percent of GDP.

Debate over insolvency obscures a common assumption that tax revenues will not rise significantly. The CBO, for instance, projects Federal revenues of 19.5 percent of GDP in the 2040s, only three percentage points higher than today. A Cato Institute analysis of fiscal imbalance kept tax revenue at current levels.

Potential Federal insolvency demonstrates that we cannot afford a European-style welfare state without European-style taxes. This tension, I think, goes back to Ronald Reagan, who pursued tax cuts even though his desired spending cuts proved politically unachievable. Reagan set Federal spending on a collusion course with our distaste for taxes, likely hoping that his tax cuts would eventually force spending cuts. Maintaining Social Security and Medicare as they are given demographic changes will require paying more taxes.

I am not advocating for higher taxes and would prefer downsizing government. We cannot, however, afford a Cadillac on the payments for a Chevy and will soon have to decide whether we are truly willing to pay for big government.

look forward to partnering with other community organizations to create a library that is a vital part of this community, and working together will help grow our city."

She said libraries are so much more than just a place for books, and she will strive to make sure the community is aware of that in regards to the Elba Public Library. She noted that citizens could be on the lookout for a new website for the library.

Amlong said the new tagline for the library is "Elba Public Library - Key to the past...Gateway to the future" and she said it not only has personal significance for her as she is coming home to work as director of the library, but it also is very fitting for today's library.

"We hope to build our local history section to help preserve the rich history of our city, and, yet, stay relevant with updated technologies for Elba and the surrounding communities," she said.

Amlong encouraged everyone to 'like' the Elba Public Library page on Facebook.

Local UDC members participate in Wreaths Across America

On Saturday, Dec. 15, a group gathered at Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church in Elba to participate with thousands of others across the nation in Wreaths Across America.

Precisely at 11 a.m. those in attendance paused to join others in silent prayer for soldiers, retired military, the president and the nation. Following the moment of silent prayer, Cathy Odom ended the prayer by remembering all soldiers in harm's way as well as the families who had lost loved ones.

Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church Cemetery was adopted for the first time this year by the Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church, the Gen. Edmond Winchester Rucker 2534 Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy® and Rucker's Belles and Beaux 968 Chapter of the Children of the Confederacy®. Cathy Odom, member of the church and vice president of the Rucker Chapter presided. She began by welcoming everyone.

Thomas Clark and Cathy Odom are shown with a wreath that was placed on a veterans grave at Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church cemetery during the Wreath Across America event held Saturday, Dec. 15th.

The salute to the Christian flag was given followed by the pledge to the flag of the United States of America. Georgia Fleming led the group in singing the Star-Spangled Banner.

Fleming, president of the Rucker Chapter, added her welcome and gave a short talk encouraging those in attendance to be the legacy for their ancestors by passing along family stories and family history to future generations.

Small flags were placed in the wreath at the front of the church beginning with the flag of the United States. Other flags were placed in the wreath for each branch of military service. Many of those placing the flags had served in that branch of service.

Odom then read the names of the known veterans buried in the cemetery. As she read the names, any family members present were encouraged to stand and tell their relationship to the veteran. After listing the names those in attendance went outside to place wreaths on the graves.

There were approximately 35 known veterans to have wreaths placed on their graves.

Following the placing of the wreaths, McCrae's Flying Artillery gave a Canon salute and the ceremony ended with the playing of Taps.

Odom invited those in attendance into the church fellowship hall for a snack lunch and a celebration of the 199th birthday of Alabama. There was a beautiful birthday cake decorated as the Alabama state flag as well as sandwiches, chili, hot cocoa, coffee and punch.

Prior to the beginning of lunch, the salute was given to the Alabama flag with the singing of the state song Alabama. A salute was also given to the Confederate flag and Dixie's Land was sung. Grace was given and lunch and fellowship were enjoyed.

THE DAYS AFTER CHRISTMAS

Don't take down your tree! Don't undeck the halls! Wait! The Holidays are not over yet! Christmas doesn't end until Epiphany! Epiph-a-what? Epiphany! Epiphany or Three Kings' Day is celebrated around the world each year on January 6 and commemorates The Magi Visiting Jesus and bringing gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

In The United States, we love to shove all of our celebrations together and make the shepherds bump into "The Wise Men" as they all crowd our Nativity scenes at the same time. However, The Story of The Magi is not a part of the Nativity, but rather a continuation of the story. The Magi came from The East to follow The Star and the Jewish prophecy of a Jewish king being born.

King Herod, the king of The Jews, seemed unfamiliar with this prophecy when these travelers from The East approached him. He quickly familiarized himself with the details, not because he wanted to go see a prophecy fulfilled and not because he was interested in worshipping the infant king. He became interested in his own faith tradition's prophecy because he felt threatened. He suddenly heard people inquiring him about the location of "The King of the Jews" when last he checked, he held that title. Herod felt his power threatened. He quickly plotted to have his opponent eliminated. The story continues that Herod tried to manipulate the Magi to give him the intel about where this exceptional child was.

The Magi, after hearing a message from God, did not go back to Herod with the location of Jesus. Instead, they traveled home another route. Herod, lost his mind when he found out the Magi were not coming through for him. He, in his selfishness, pride and wickedness decreed that all baby boys of a certain age be killed in order to secure his throne.

The Day of the Holy Innocents commemorates this tragic event each year on December 28. Some Christians consider these young boys that were killed by Herod's soldiers to be the first Christian martyrs. The day has become a day of fasting and mourning not just remembering those lost 2,000 years ago, but also the young and powerless today that lose their lives as expendable pawns in the selfish pursuits of power and acquisition.

God let us be better than this. Help us to protect the innocent, keep them safe, sway our hearts from pursuits that harm, neglect and disregard children here and in distant places. Amen

Harris Temple COGIC announces upcoming holiday events/activities

Cost-share program available for Alabama specialty crop producers

Alabama specialty crop farmers can apply for a cost-share program through the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries that helps farmers offset the cost of training to improve food-handling safety.

The cost-share program will reimburse farmers who successfully pass a Good Agricultural Practices (GAP) and Good Handling Practices (GHP) certification program. Reimbursements cover 75 percent of the program cost, up to $500 per year.

GAP and GHP audits are voluntary inspections that evaluate how fruits and vegetables are produced, packed, handled and stored. The goal is to ensure food is produced in the safest manner possible to minimize risks of microbial food safety hazards.

Funds for this program are provided through the U.S. Department of Agriculture Specialty Crop Block Grant Program, which awarded $25,000 for Alabama producers. Funds will be distributed on a first-come, first-serve basis, until the funds are depleted, according to ADAI officials.

Many believers find the same scenario to be true of their relationship with God. We know how to ask with "Please" but don't invest much time in saying "thank you." Sarah can serve as a good model for doing better on our thank-you to God. Once her desire for a child was honored, she remembered to give God the credit - a special kind of thank you. This told the whole world how grateful she was for what the Lord had done for her. Genuine faith always expresses itself in gratitude. Does yours?

The Elba Senior Citizens Center hosted a Christmas Open House event for its seniors on Monday, Dec. 10th. The event featured a bake sale, and art projects completed by the seniors were on display for all to view and enjoy. Entertainment included a couple of 'favorites' for the Elba seniors – the Cow Pen Creek Band and the Boll Weevil Dancers performed. SPORTS

Views From The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

We took our grandson Lawson to visit Santa over the weekend and he told the jolly old man that the past year was 'my best year ever' and proceeded to give him a list of things he wanted for Christmas. He told us a couple of things he had already realized he needed next year, but I have to agree it has been a very special year. From all the Mularz Family "MERRY CHRISTMAS."

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers picked up two wins over the weekend at a tournament in Brantley before falling in the finals. The Tigers were able to get in an 'up and down' tempo in the two wins and easily rolled to the wins, but in the finals were slowed down by a packed in zone defense to stop the inside power of Alex Wright, and it worked as the Tigers scored only ten points in the first half and never recovered. As the season progresses I am sure the Tigers will see more and more teams back up in a zone on defense, and unless their shooters can connect from outside the zone there could be many more low scoring games that go down to the wire. Coach William Moguel stated before the season started that the 'real season' would start after the New Year, and that time is now here!

 The Elba Lady Tigers bounced back from an opening loss at the Brantley tourney to post two big wins, and in doing so put an end to all thoughts of what had been a 4-game losing streak. The Lady Tigers lit up the scoreboard in impressive wins over Greenville and Highland Home, and maybe gave their fans a preview of things to come as the girls head into area play. The Lady Tigers play a fast-paced style and when they get rolling can be hard to beat. Let's hope they are now on a roll!

 It was a busy week on the basketball court and a number of area teams enjoyed the chance to compete in tournaments. In boys' action, Kinston rebounded from a blow out loss to Slocomb to shock the Red Tops in the tourney finals, while Brantley picked up two wins in its own tournament and Zion Chapel got the chance to play three games and gain valuable experience. Over with the girls, Brantley remained on a roll and knocked off 2A defending state champ Samson on its way to the championship of its own event, while the Zion Chapel girls also got the opportunity to get in some extra work at the tournament. Area play is just around the corner for all area teams, and the chance to get in some extra work in holiday tournaments should pay dividends.

 National signing day has come and gone with Elba's Alex Wright and Brantley's Parker Driggers putting their names on the dotted line to continue their careers at the next level. Wright signed with UAB and is expected to play the 'rush end' position with the Blazers, while Driggers is expected to play in the slot and at receiver with the Lions. Wright had only played high school football for three years and is considered to be an 'un-tapped' star at the next level, while Driggers has played all his life and is a true football player and teammate. Both should leave their mark at the next level.

 In closing.... the high school 'All State' high school football teams will be named during the holidays and Elba is expected to place a number of players on the 1A list. The list was supposed to be released early in the week. So, look next week for the Tigers that earned statewide attention, and honors, as well as any other area players that may have received statewide accolades!

Singletary honored

The 'Best of the Best'

The Dothan Eagle announced its annual "Super 12" high school football selections recently with Elba Tiger standout Richmon Singletary claiming 'Player of the Year' honors.

Singletary, a 6-1, 183-pound, senior, starred at Elba during the past season at running back, defensive back and as a kick returner, and helped lead the Tigers to an 8-3 record and a spot in the 1A playoffs.

During his senior season, Singletary rushed for 2,083 yards and 25 touchdowns, averaged 189.4 yards per game and 11.3 yards per carry. He set an all-time state record with six kick-off returns for touchdowns and piled up 688 yards in kickoff returns, the third most in state history. In addition, Singletary returned 10 punts for 261 yards and one touchdown, caught 6 passes for 60 yards, passed for 32 yards and one touchdown and scored five two-point conversions. Overall, the Tiger standout rolled up 3,124 all-purpose yards and scored 33 touchdowns.

On defense, Singletary had 83 tackles, including six tackles for losses, and had four pass interceptions, with one returned for a touchdown. He added 11 pass deflections and one fumble recovery.

"It is an honor to be named the player of the year," stated Singletary,

"but it would not have been possible without my teammates and my coaches. My goal was to help the team win a state championship, and while we fell short of that goal we did have a pretty good season. I certainly didn't have plans to rush for 2,000 yards or set any state records, but it happened and again it was because of my teammates and coaches. Looking back, there were some things I could have done better, but overall I guess it was a pretty good season for me."

Elba Tiger head coach Pate Harrison said of Singletary, "He is a special person in more ways than one, and it was an honor to get the chance to coach him. He is a blessed athlete and a special person. It is not often that you can honestly say that your best player is also the best person. He would change the dynamics of the team for the good at team meetings, at the team meal and on the field. He makes people around him better on and off the field, and whatever college signs him with get a special person."

Other players named 'Super 12' included Grant Thornton, Enterprise; Jonathan Fells, Carroll; K'shun Stokes, Headland; Wise Gordon, Providence Christian; Spencer Smith, Providence Christian; Rayshawn Reynolds, Pike County; Hernando Wheeler, Pike County;

Daquon Kincey, Abbeville; Bryson Peavy, Arton; Jalen White, Daleville; and, Jake Kinney, Northside Methodist. Danny Raines, of Headland, was named the 'Coach of the Year.'

Area players that received 'Honorable Mention' included Dezmon Roberson, Elba; Alex Wright, Elba; Daniel Hicks, Arton; and, Kaden Cupp, New Brockton.

Elba's Alex Wright signs with UAB

Elba Tiger standout Athlete Wright completed a meteoric rise in the sport of football last week when he signed a football scholarship with the University of Alabama at Birmingham.

"It feels good to finally get to sign the papers," stated Wright, a three-year starter for the Tigers. "I now know I don't have to worry about all the recruiting anymore and that I will have a spot on the roster at UAB. UAB and Coach Clark had been with me from the start back in the tenth grade and they were always honest with me. They never beat around the bush and made promises, they just laid it out straight and let me know they had a place for me."

Wright, a 6-6, 232-pounder, senior, who is expected to play outside linebacker with the Blazers, had early offers from 17 colleges, including Vanderbilt, Wake Forest and Louisville.

"It just felt like family up at UAB and the coaches were great," added Wright.

"Coach Clark would always talk with me when he could, and other times the other coaches on staff would call and make time for me. I talked with every coach on staff at one time or another, and that made a difference. I just had a feeling that this would be my next home."

"The sky is the limit for Alex," stated Elba Tiger head coach Pate Harrison. "His potential is still untapped and at 6-6 once he puts on some weight he will have an NFL caliber body and skill set. If he will do everything up there he is supposed to there is no doubt in my mind he could be in the NFL some day. He is still a raw talent and has only played football three years. Before that he was in the band and played basketball. He is really still learning how to play the game."

Wright had 63 tackles, including 17 tackles for losses during his senior season, while on offense the tight-end caught 15 passes for 266 yards and 3 touchdowns.

Brantley's Driggers signs with UNA

Brantley Bulldog multi-sport standout Parker Driggers made is future plans official last week when he signed to play football at the University of North Alabama.

Driggers, a standout for the Bulldogs in football, basketball and baseball, was rated as a two-star athlete by 247 Sports and is expected to play receiver at UNA.

Driggers was named the Montgomery Advertiser 'prep football player of the week' for games played Sept. 6-7 after he completed 9 of 12 passes for 150 yards, rushed twice for 80 yards and one touchdown, and caught a 30-yard touchdown pass in a 39-0 win over Kinston.

A 6-0, 195-pound, senior,

Driggers played multiple positions, including running back, quarterback, receiver, linebacker, defensive back and punter at Brantley.
